

ROSE-LYNN FISHER UCLA Fowler Museum
"Private Home With Television, Agdz, Draa Valley" is part of the exhibit.

Inside everyday Morocco

Based on her travels to Morocco, photographer Rose-Lynn Fisher characterizes it as a place of unexpected contrasts that constantly stimulates the senses- the social interactions, the colorful architecture and the urban areas surrounded by isolated desert. The exhibition "Liminal Spaces: Photographs of Morocco by Rose-Lynn Fisher" captures the people, physical spaces and daily life of the North African country.

--CYNTHIA DEA

Fowler Museum
UCLA Campus, Sunset Boulevard and
Westwood Plaza, Westwood
Free
Hours: noon to 5 p.m. Wednesdays through Sundays, except noon to 8 p.m. Thursdays.
Ends Jan 21.